To Whom It May Concern:

It gives me great pleasure to introduce, Southern Home Builders, Inc. and its President, Michael A. ("Mike") McCarty. Mike is a very talented individual with whom I have known and worked for the past four and one-half years. We met through a mutual Client and job for whom I was the Architect of Record on a total renovation of their home and Mike was contracted for some site work on the project. As we both spent numerous hours on the jobsite a rapport developed with the resultant good fortune for me of having gotten a call from Mike regarding another project across town in need of an architect.

The connection was successful, and my firm had the distinct pleasure of working with Mike and Southern Home Builders, Inc. on a very complex total renovation of a waterfront home for a "snowbird" home-owner. The professionalism, respect and total integrity of Mike and his team for an Owner of this type is critical to the success of the project from start to finish. Mike's commitment to "do a great job" for each and every homeowner is contagious and immediately sets a high standard for which all other general contractors should strive to achieve.

In closing, as an Architect with an active practice in South Florida, the need is very real for general contractors with; professional integrity, diverse understanding of all facets of a successful job completion, and respect for all firms and individuals working on getting the job done. Southern Home Builders, Inc. has all of those qualities and more. Please, feel free to call me if there is any question regarding this individual and his organization.

Sincere regards,

Susan Massey McClellan, AIA, President
